DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

EASTERN DATES TO NOVEMBER 1.

EASTERN STATES.

Political.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The usual bustle attending the eve of the political election prevails to night. Candidates are industriously working for personal interests, and politicians are giving instructions to their followers. Pamphlets, setting forth the claims of nominees, are scattered through the city. James O'Brien has an enthusiastic groupe in every ward, and feels confident of his election to the Mayoralty. He hopes for 20,000 majority. Many of his adherents promised a large Republican vote. Large sums of money are reported as being distributed in his name among working men in up town wards. The enthusiasm for O'Brien on the east side has occasioned a report that a preconcerted attack will be made on the Havemeyer boxes to-morrow. Rumors prevail to day that Havemeyer had withdrawn, and was the theme of universal remark, but proved entirely unfounded. Tammany Hall is crowded with politicians, enthusiastic for Lawrence. In betting, O'Brien is the favorite, with Havemeyer close to him, and Lawrence far behind.

The contest for Governor excites the greatest interest. Betting is two to one on Dix.

Kansas Republicans Rallying.

TOPEKA, Nov. 4.—The Republican State Central Committee having made a careful canvass estimate the majority for the Republican ticket at 20,000.

The Election in Louisiana.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 4.—The Republicans claim that they have carried the State by 30,000. The Democrats claim the State by 20,000, and the city by ten to twelve thousand. Governor Warmouth thinks the State has gone for Greeley and Brown by 15,000 majority, and claims three, probably four, Congressmen.

Registration in Missouri.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 4.—Registration returns of 103 counties of Missouri show a registration of 312,000. There are eleven counties still to hear from.

New York City.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Gov. Hoffman is in the city and will remain here over Tuesday, election day.

Arrangements are completed for a series of lectures by Father Burke, in answer to Froude.

Rev. Geo. Pentrost, pastor of Hanson's place Baptist Church, Brooklyn, who caused a commotion in the denomination by administering the communion to the non-Baptists, has resigned.

The Mercury says Mayor Hall has charges prepared to commence suit against the proprietors of the Times and Harper Bros.

The National Democrats have withdrawn their candidates for local offices in favor of Tammany.

Suits Against Bergh.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Several stage companies have brought suit to restrain Bergh from stopping their horses or arresting their drivers. The argument in the case is adjourned till Wednesday.

The number of horses on the street to-day increased, as also the number of street cars.

Woodhull and Claflin.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The United States grand jury indicted Woodhull and Claflin to-day, and thus prevented a hearing before the United States Commissioner. Stephen Pearl Andrews has also been arrested on a charge of being implicated with Woodhull.

In the case of Woodhull and Claflin to-day, bench warrants were served upon them and bail fixed at $8,000 each. In default of the same they were remanded to Ludlow street jail to await trial.

More Vessels Burned.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Dispatches received in this city announce the burning at St. Thomas on Friday morning of the barks S. T. Holbrook and Clara Lamb. The Holbrook sailed hence for Antwerp on September 15th, and put into St. Thomas disabled, where she was condemned and was transferring her cargo of naptha to the Lamb when burned. The cargo is valued at $20,000.

The Equine Epidemic.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 3.—Springfield Boy, a noted trotting horse, and four other horses died of the epidemic within the past 24 hours and nearly all the horses are kept in the stables today.

BOSTON, Nov. 3.—The horse cars are withdrawn to-day as a protection of horses against a cold rain prevailing. A few hacks needed for hotel purposes were the only carriages seen. The disease appears slowly but surely passing away.

Dispatches from Maine represent the disease spreading throughout that State.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The horse disease is increasing under the influence of the unfavorable weather. An effort was made to-day to run dummies on car tracks, but was unsuccessful, the engine continually jumping the track. Few or no cars are running.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3.—Of eighty horses of the city railroads all are sick but eleven. Few fatal cases reported.

Fire at Jeffersonville, Indiana.

LOUISVILLE, Nov. 3.—The large steam cooper shops of Anders, Brookbury & Co., of Jeffersonville, Indiana, burned this morning. Loss, $30,000; insured for $12,000.

Choke Damp.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 4.—Three men have just been suffocated in a mineral well near Avon.

A Black Crime.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 4.—An inquest is being held on the body of Georgiana Lovering, the young girl who now seems to have been decoyed into the woods, ravished and murdered, by Franklin B. Evans, her great uncle, who is sixty years of age. Evans is in custody.

Fire in Pennsylvania.

HARRISBURG, Nov. 4.—The building of the Lochiel Rolling Mills Company was burned out this morning. Loss $100,000. Insured for $70,000.

Bridge Across the Missouri.

ST. JOSEPH, Nov. 4.—The pivot pier of the bridge at this point has reached the bed rock. Two more piers remain to be sunk, and the contractors assert that they will have the work completed for the crossing of cars by January 1st.

Two Men Murdered.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 4.—In a bar room fight last night John Betts struck William Markian with a chair and killed him.

At Piqua last evening Patrick Kelly killed Scherzusen with a blow of the fist.

Sights in Algiers.

A writer in the Gentleman's Magazine chats pleasantly about what he saw in Algiers:

Any of the streets ascending the hill from the Place de Chartres—which may almost be considered as the extreme limit of the European town—will lead immediately to the Mahommedan quarter. Here will be found obscure and frequently vaulted market thoroughfares, resembling alleys, bordered by houses, where the monotony of the bare plaster walls is only broken at wide intervals by small casements crossed with iron bars and low-arched doorways. There are no gardens or verdure, and hardly a foot of even sickly-looking vine or fig tree dying amidst the rubbish of its crossways; there are mosques so surrounded by buildings that they can hardly be seen, vapor baths whither people go mysteriously, the men at night the women in the day time. In a word, the Mahommedan quarter of Algiers is a compact and confused mass of masonry, where almost every vestige of life is hidden, and where it seems as if it were forbidden that gayety should be heard. The doors of the houses are never opened but half way, and they close again by their own weight. Everything looks suspicious about these curious buildings, which are admirably adapted for their master's love of secrecy. The small casements looking on to the street are barred, and every kind of precaution is taken against curiosity from without and indiscretion from within. Inside these bare, dismal-looking walls and massive doors, resembling the gates of citadels, are the two great mysteries of the country—namely, the personal fortune of its inhabitants, and its women, of neither of which much is known.

Money hardly circulates. It is only seen passing from the hand of an Arab to an Arab hand, and it is only used to purchase the ordinary daily necessities of life and jewelry. The women go out but seldom. In public they are invariably closely veiled, and the baths, which are their usual places of resort, are inviolable. Passing along these lonely alleys beside these silent dwellings, one hears noises which are almost imperceptible to the human ear, and whispers which might be taken for sighs. At times it is the sounds of a voice coming through an aperture in the wall, or descending from a terrace on the roof of the house; at others it is the whimpering of a child complaining in a strange tongue, whose lisp mingled with sobs has no signification for a foreign ear; at others, again, it is the strain of an instrument, whose unique note, slowly marking the measure of an unheard song, seems to accompany a dream. It is thus that the captive consoles herself, dreaming of a liberty she never had, and which she cannot understand. There is an Arab proverb which says: "When a woman has seen the guest, she cares no more for the husband," and upon this precept the whole system of conjugal life among Mohammedans is based. Their houses, whether they be agreeable or not to those by whom they are inhabited, whether their exteriors be luxurious or poor, are prisons. They are like iron safes, of which the avaricious masters have the keys, and within which they lock up all their secrets, so that no one may know what they possess.

In seven precincts taken indiscriminately, in the first three hours the vote stood, Grant 541, Greeley 162. At one P. M. the returns from all the wards gave Grant 21,613 majority. It is said Greeley will have 20,000 less votes than Buckalew polled.

Pittsburg Speaks.

PITTSBURG—1:30 P. M.—Nov. 5.—At 1 o'clock in twenty-one wards of Pittsburg and Allegheny City, Grant's majority was 4,477.

Democrats Don't Vote.

ERIE, Pa., Nov. 5.—Very little interest was taken in the election. The Republicans will not poll their full vote, and indications are now that not over fifty per cent. of the Democratic vote will be polled.

The election is very quiet. There is every probability that a large vote will be polled.

Louisiana Doubtful.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—The Republicans say that all estimates are necessarily based upon a knowledge of various parties before the election, but the general feeling appears that the Republicans have carried the city by a small majority, and the State by at least 10,000 majority.

The Bee thinks Greeley and the Fusion ticket has carried the city by 8,000 or 10,000, and that indications are that the State ticket is elected.

The Picayune says the Parish of Orleans polled 28,624 votes, and estimates the majority in the city for Greeley at 11,000. The Liberal State Committee claim heavy gains in the interior, and a majority of 12,000 in the State.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The election opens quietly in all the wards. The voting is very slow on account of the time consumed in hunting for voting and registration numbers on the great register. The one hundred foot limit prevents all crowding at the polls.

There is a large extra police force and U. S. Marshals to preserve order.

The weather is pleasant.

The election is still very quiet and voting slow. Posters are up at the polls warning voters that their ballots will be thrown out if they vote for or against the subsidy.

R. Johnson and Wm. O. Laughlin were arrested for showing ballots within the 100 foot limit.

At the present rate of recording ballots, no more than two-thirds of the vote of the city will be polled. In the first precinct of the Tenth Ward, at noon, only 229 votes had been cast. In many precincts there is voting for county officers on the ground that the Legislature had no right to extend the term.

There are 794 men engaged in running the election.

Election very quiet. No crowds about polling places. The vote so far is comparatively small owing to slowness of the officers of election.

Daniel McNeil, D. H. Ball and Samuel Berkley are arrested for violating the new election law.

It is impossible to say how the vote stands owing to similarity of ballots. Both parties are confident of success to this city.

The Courts are all closed and many firms have suspended business for to-day.

Many hundreds are voting against subsidy regardless of the warning of the Republican State Central Committee.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—The election closed as quietly as it opened, although in several precincts men in the line were shut off and could not vote. It has been the most orderly election ever held in San Francisco. It is impossible to tell how the vote stands, but the Republicans claim the city by 2,500 majority—some placing the estimate as high as 5,000.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5.—There is much excitement on the streets in the vicinity of bulletin boards, where the announcements of the vote are received with great cheering by the crowd.

Counting proceeds slowly.

Patrick Murphy, for attempting to vote twice in the Third ward, was arrested and put in jail.

The total vote of the city is about 23,000—larger than was expected from the slowness in voting in the early part of the day.

Death in the Vesuvian Crater.

The Revista of Naples, contains the following account of the loss of two gentlemen in the crater of Vesuvius, who with great temerity insisted on being lowered down to the dark cavern immediately below the orifice of the cavern:

A party was formed to ascend Mount Vesuvius on Friday afternoon in the Caffe di Europa. On Sunday night they took carriages from the caffe for Resina, reaching there at half-past eleven in the forenoon. Having procured horses, guides and other necessaries, they started for the burning mountain and began the ascent, one Luigi Garoglio leading as cicerone, and arrived at the base of the uppermost cone, further than which horses do not go. The tourists then began the ascent over the hillocks and boulders of lava until the vicinity of the crater was reached, when Mr. James Wilcox and Francois DeMiene, an American and a Frenchman, insisted upon being lowered down to the cavern which is formed below the mouth of the volcano. The guides, who provided themselves with ropes for that purpose, complied with the request of the foreigners and lowered them down. The mountain being perfectly quiet, no danger was anticipated; but when one of the party above the crater called out to the rash adventurers, no answer was returned. The guides growing anxious, cried, "Gentlemen, it would be better for you to hold on to the ends of the ropes." Still the ropes remained slack, and no answer came from the sulphurous and murky cavern below. Twenty minutes passed and the adventurers were still silent. It was then proposed that one of the guides should be lowered down and hold on to the ropes until he had investigated the appearance of the cavern base. He had hardly entered when he cried out: "Su! su! non c'e niente che una pietra strettis ma!" ("Up! up! there's nothing here but a very narrow rock!")

As far as any living person can tell the rest, the unfortunate strangers, the victims of their own imprudence, were hurled into the mysterious abyses of Mount Vesuvius.

In this same month, sixteen years ago, two Englishmen of birth and fortune, and a French comedian committed the same terrible error. The same ambition which urged them to scale the icy heights of Matterhorn, also nerved them to search insidious Vesuvius while it slept, and they were either lost in some labyrinth of lava and ashes, or smothered by vapors of sulphur.

Remarkable Family Reunion.

The Bangor, Maine, Whig of October 19th, says:

One of the most remarkable reunions ever held in this country was that of the Swett family, on Wednesday, at Hampden. The late Benjamin Swett, of Hampden, was the father of 13 children, 7 sons and 6 daughters, the oldest of whom is now nearly 77, and the youngest 54, and no death has ever occurred among the number. Business interests having separated the family, the parental estate was sold, and passed into the possession of Dr. B. R. Baker, who now occupies it. Being a warm friend of the family, he has always insisted upon their still regarding the old place as their home. Taking advantage of this kind invitation, and the presence here of one of the daughters who resides in the distant West, it was determined this year to once more get together under the old roof, where all had not met before since November, 1858, where they celebrated Thanksgiving day together. Accordingly the family, with their husbands and wives, children and grandchildren, with other relatives and invited guests, met together, on Wednesday, to the number of nearly one hundred.

The house first erected by Benjamin Swett upon his removal to this State in 1793 having been destroyed by fire, the present house was built upon its site, and was first occupied Oct. 9, 1801, 71 years previous to the day of the reunion. In the house 12 of the children of Mr. Swett were born, the oldest having been born in the old house. During the 71 years of its existence, but three deaths have occurred beneath its roof, only two of these being members of the family—the two wives of Mr. Swett, he himself having died after removing to the residence erected by his son on the same farm, and the same now occupied by Dr. Baker.

The united ages of the 13 is 830 years. Their father died some years since at the advanced age of 85 years, and his mother died at the age of 92. His father died younger, having been lost at sea.

The Daily Oregonian.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 6, 1872.

The Election in Oregon.

The election passed off very quietly, the vote being somewhat under that of the June election. The decrease is chiefly from the Democratic vote, though at some places the Republican vote also is considerably less. The Republicans make considerable gains throughout the State. At Oregon City and at East Portland, there is a small loss to the Republicans.

The Republican majority in this city is 703 against 671 at the June election—a gain of 32. The total vote of the city precincts is 2,120 against 2,390 at the June election. When the outside precincts are all in, it will probably be found that the majority in the county is a little larger than at the State election, while in other sections of the State, so far as returns are received, the Republicans gain largely. The indications are that the Republican majority in the State will be little short of 2,500.

The Eastern States.

The dispatches indicate results of the elections in the East, that will surprise the most sanguine Republicans. The majorities are larger than any person had estimated, and the Republicans have carried several States which had been considered doubtful.

There is nothing definite from the Gulf States. North Carolina goes Republican by 5,000.

The election in Louisiana was held on Monday, but the condition of the western and southern portions of the State, with reference to communication, is such as to prevent the speedy return of the vote. The first dispatches state that the Republicans claimed the State by 30,000 majority, while the Greeleyites claimed it by 20,000. These figures are little better than mere conjecture. The second dispatch leaves the matter equally uncertain.

Obit.

The Democratic party of the United States expired yesterday, while at the polls trying to cast its vote for Presidential Electors. The deceased was a child of the Jacobins of France, and was ushered into existence about the close of the last century, Dr. Thomas Jefferson, of Virginia, sometimes called the sage of Monticello, being the accoucheur. That eminent gentleman, having been a life-long friend of the parents, took a deep interest in the child, stood sponsor for it, attended personally to its education and faithfully instilled into its youthful mind those principles and precepts which had governed the conduct of its distinguished parents throughout their eventful career. In its early youth the deceased discovered a very marked inclination to take charge of the political affairs of this country, together with an unmistakable genius for ingratiating itself into the confidence of the ignorant and vicious classes, and securing their suffrages. The possession of this faculty, which is of so great advantage to ambitious persons, naturally drew to the subject of this sketch many politicians of respectable standing and considerable culture, who professed a warm attachment to the principles of the Jacobins and of Dr. Jefferson; for there is no other talent with which nature can endow a man, that will draw around him half so many friends and retainers, as the somewhat ambiguous gift of being successful. So, in the course of time, the Democratic party succeeded in its ambitious hopes of securing an ascendency in the administration of the Government, which it used to its own advantage and the infinite gratification of its retainers, with only occasional interruptions, for nearly sixty years, when the unfortunate position it occupied in relation to the question, whether or not the nation should continue to exist, together with a wider dissemination of knowledge among the masses of the people, caused its retirement from public life. Several times afterwards it offered to relieve the people of the burdens of government, but these offers were invariably refused. Disappointment and grief at the non-acceptance of its kindly offices by the people, superinduced atrophy, and the party steadily wasted away through a series of years. Within the last few months unmistakable simptoms of internal disease have been observed; and the irregular pulse, together with a perceptible derangement of the mental faculties, amounting sometimes to actual lunacy, have admonished the physicians who had the patient under treatment that the end was near. Dr. Greeley and other eminent physicians exhausted their skill in vain. It is said the patient was kept for some weeks before its death on a diet consisting entirely of crow's flesh, prepared in accordance with a prescription made up by Dr. Greeley and some other medical gentlemen whom he called into consultation; but this extraordinary remedy seemed to be without efficacy, and the patient expired under the circumstances above stated.

The life of the Democratic party was full of adventures and incidents that would instruct and interest the reader, many of them being connected with the most exciting events of our national history. We should be glad to present the most prominent of these to our readers, but for the fact that the journalism of the times appears to have adopted that chivalrous maxim of the old Romans, which forbids that anything but good shall be spoken of the dead. We have no disposition to violate a rule founded in so generous a sentiment; and we have another rule of our own, which we hold equally sacred, to speak nothing but truth on any occasion. We can say nothing of the history of the Democratic party without the violation of one or the other of these rules. The Democracy is dead. Requiscat in pace—which, we believe, means—bury it out of sight.

The Republicans have majorities, outside of Jackson and the counties east of the mountains, amounting to from 2,800 to 3,000. It is not likely the Democratic majorities reach more than 400 or 500 in the aggregate.

The only State yet heard from that will cast its Electoral vote for Greeley, is Washington Territory.

The Jacksonville Sentinel says: The Portland Bulletin has a long sensation local item about a woman who muzzled a butcher in that city for her lost husband, and wouldn't take no nor any denial, and says she left there for Jacksonville, where she has relatives residing. Isn't that another Herald ghost-canard? Haven't heard of any such lady about here."

The Statesman says: Thomas P. Ward, who was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to the Penitentiary for a term of years, was pardoned out by Gov. Grover on Monday. A petition had been signed by fifty seven members of the Legislature, asking for his release, and the Governor couldn't resist the plea.

THE TERRITORIES.

H. N. McGuire's baby girl carried off the blue ribbon at the late Montana Fair.

Kirkendall's mule train, destined for Corinne, loaded at Clancey with 45 tons of Legal Tender ores, which averaged $400 per ton.

The Port Townsend Argus will be suspended for the next six weeks, the proprietor having concluded to get a lot of new material for his office.

Wild game is being taken into Olympia in wagon loads. We guess there are a good many "dead ducks" in the general market of our sister Territory.

Barrels are made at the cooper shops in Olympia at the rates of $1 75 apiece; for half barrels, $1 25. At wholesale the rates are reduced somewhat.

The burglar who entered the Tacoma House at Olympia a few nights ago, has been caught, made to give up the pants and boots which he stole and lodged in jail.

The Helena Herald of the 24th ult. says: "The streets have been thronged to-day with Flathead and Spokane Indians, on their way from the West Side to the buffalo hunting grounds in Judith Basin. We were favored by numerous calls from noted 'bucks,' but as they did not leave their cards we cannot give them a 'personal.'"

OREGON.

Snow has fallen on the mountains around Jacksonville.

The Sisters' Academy at Jacksonville, opened with fair prospects for a prosperous term.

Mrs. Alice Boyce, wife of Dr. Boyce, of Hillsboro, died at that place on last Saturday. She leaves an aged husband and a son, besides a large circle of friends.

The Circuit Court for Josephine county was called at noon Monday, Oct. 28, by Judge Prim. There being only a few civil cases on the docket, they were postponed, and the Court adjourned on Tuesday morning.

On Saturday night last, a barn belonging to Mr. Henderson, of Hillsboro, was discovered to be on fire. The discovery being made before the flames had got fairly started, the fire was squelched before any serious damage was done.

Jackson county produces almost everything good to eat except hogs, and recently a large drove were driven South through Jacksonville. They were in good condition, and would require little more feeding to fit them for the slaughter pen.

At a regular meeting of Capitol Lodge No. 11, I. O. G. T., held in Salem last Saturday evening, the following officers were installed, to serve during the quarter commencing November 1st: W. C. T., Chas. W. Miller; R. H. S., Miss Amelia Scriber; L. H. S., Miss Mary Lance; W. V. T., Miss Minnie Stone; W. S., Ira Erb; W. A. S., Mrs. Jennie Erb; W. F. S., James Coffey; W. T., C. W. Scriber; W. M., S. W. Leamons; W. D. M., Miss Hyatt; W. Chap., Rev. W. R. Stewart; W. I. G., Miss Addie Scriber; W. O. G., F. Dennis.

A REMARKABLE SUIT.—Many people who have read Dicken's novel of Bleak House, and the pressure of chancery suits upon the minds of people who sought to right their wrongs through them, thought the pictures overdrawn; and yet Miss Felite, who never became discouraged after repeated defeats, and never faltered until at last she had her case before the "Day of Judgment," and Richard who sank into insanity and the grave, were hardly more pitiable victims of the friction and crosses that are incurred by litigation than is George W. Purdy, of Marlborough, N. Y., who for ten years has been in the constant heat of legal struggle. His suit has been with one of his neighbors, Robert A. Kerr, who in 1859 leased a farm from Elisha Purdy, George's father, for a period of five years, with a covenant to convey the property if Kerr paid $10,000 and all arrearages of rent at any time during the first three years of the term.

The next year Mr. Purdy died, leaving a widow and five children. Kerr purchased the interest of two of the children in 1861, and in 1862, on the last day of the three years, he offered to pay the other children and the widow all the back rents and their share of the $10,000, at the same time demanding a deed. He did not have the money, and they refused to convey unless compelled to. Kerr then commenced suit, and it has run through all possible forms and varieties, being decided and the decision appealed from time and again, the last and recent conclusion being a refusal to compel a conveyance. The property has grown in value until it now involves as much as $60,000. Purdy's brain has been so affected by the long struggle that last summer he attempted to kill his mother and sisters and was sent to the insane asylum, from which he has just been released.

WEDNESDAY MORNING NOV 6 1872

CITY.

THE VOTES OF THE LADIES.—Mrs A J Duniway, Mrs E F Hendee, Mrs M A Lambert and Mrs Beatty (colored) repaired yesterday to the Morrison Precinct polls accompanied by the husbands of the first two to deposit their ballots. Everything was quiet and orderly, and the ladies entered the booth with a determined but modest demeanor that evidently meant business. Mrs Duniway walked up to the stand with a Republican ticket in her fingers, which she tendered to Judge Mayer who looking up quietly said:

"Mrs Duniway where do you reside?"

Mrs D, in a calm, measured tone, "In Portland, Oregon."

Mr M.—"In what precinct?"

Mrs D—"That matters not sir. We are not limited to particular precincts when voting for United States officers."

Mr M— "Ahem. Have you tried to vote at any other precinct?"

Mrs D—"No sir. We were told that the most gentlemanly judges in the city were in this precinct so we came here."

Mr M (taking off his hat)—"Thank you, ladies. I shall be glad when the time comes that the ladies right to vote is everywhere acknowledged but, at present, if we receive your vote it must be under protest."

Mrs. D— "Why under protest? I am a peaceable law abiding citizen of this Republic. I pay taxes, own lands and possess other immunities and responsibilities of citizenship, and I am here to deposit my ballot as a duty I owe to the commonwealth."

Mr M—"Are you of lawful age, Mrs Duniway?"

"I suppose so, sir, I have raised a half dozen voters and worked out my state of previous condition of servitude."

Judge Failing—"I see no law requiring me to receive your vote, madam."

Mrs D—"There is no law prohibiting your doing so. I have read the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Oregon, and come here under those instruments to claim the 'equal protection of the laws.'"

Mr F—"The statute says that women if heads of families, may vote at school meetings."

Mrs. D—"This is not a school meeting and if it were, I shouldn't want to kill my husband to get to vote."

Mr F—"Do you believe I ought to receive your vote under protest?"

Mrs D.—"I know you ought not to protest it."

Mr F—"But that does not answer the question. We don't differ on this principle as much as you may suppose, but as I am sworn to obey the laws, and can find no law instructing me to receive your vote, I must decline it. Again I ask do you believe I ought to receive your vote under protest?"

Mrs. D.—"I do not, sir because I deny your right to protest. Hundreds of women wanted to come with me to day, and they are anxiously awaiting the result of this attempt. They said that you would snub our votes, and you have but gentlemen, we thank you for the courtesy with which you receive us personally, and we are sure you the day is not far distant when you will treat us just as well as you to day treat our colored brethren."

The clerk took the names of the ladies in a separate "register," and they filed smilingly out and passed down the street amid the congratulations of their friends, Mrs Duniway quietly remarking that "she felt sorry for the judges; they evidently were ashamed of the laws they felt compelled to obey."

BOARD OF ENGINEERS.—Major Robert will start for San Francisco the last part of the present week to attend a meeting of the Board of Engineers for the Pacific Coast, of which he is an honored member. This meeting of the Board has been called for the express purpose of examining the plans, specifications, etc, of the Portland bridge. The Secretary of War designated this Board as the proper body before which the matter ought to be brought. The plans will be inspected, their feasibility and practicability discussed and the results of the examination, whether adverse or favorable will be communicated to the Secretary, which official will in a great degree be controled by the report of the Board of Engineers in his approval or rejection of the plans. Major Robert requests any or all persons who may have objections to interpose as to location of the bridge or its being constructed at all, to call and see him at his office and express their individual or collective opinions before his departure.

MR VINSON'S BENEFIT.—Next Friday evening that old popular actor with this public, Mr Jas H Vinson, will take a benefit at Oro Fino Theater. Of the artistic qualities of this veteran of the boards, it is entirely unnecessary for us to speak. All theatre-goers cannot but heartily endorse the statement that a better or more thorough actor has never appeared before this public in his peculiar line. That old favorite and sterling play, "Grimaldi," will be produced expressly for that occasion. The title will be assumed by the beneficiary. Those who have seen Mr Vinson under the difficult character "Grimaldi," will agree with us when we say, that there are the fewest number of actors anywhere, who can act the old French Soldier—one of Napoleon's Legion—as well as Mr Vinson, and we hazard the assertion, that there are none who can surpass him in that role. He is par excellence. No urging at our hands is necessary to crowd Oro Fino Theater to its capacity on Friday evening.

DANGEROUS RIDE.—A small boy rode a horse down to the foot of Stark street yesterday, where the end of the plank roadway extends into the river. When the animal came to the jumping off place, it declined to go any further, but being urged forward, was in the act of leaping into the river, when several gentlemen perceiving the danger, shouted to the lad to hold in his horse. This he did when on the very brink and thus narrowly escaped. The boy did not suppose the water was deep at that point, and imagined it would be an innocent sport to ride into the river. But if the horse had trusted itself to the watery footing would not have been found much short of ten or twelve feet. The first step would have landed the young equestrian headfirst into the river, and the consequences might have been more serious than ludicrous.

UP THE COLUMBIA.—Major Robert and Capt. West returned a few days ago, from an official tour to the Upper Columbia. The object of the visit was to examine the points along at the different places where natural obstructions to the channel exist, and lay out work for the contractor Mr J B Montgomery. That gentleman is making speedy arrangements to commence work at once. Operations will be commenced at Umatilla Rapids, Devil's Bend and John Day's Rock simultaneously. Under the contract a certain portion of the work is to be completed by the first of January, and all the work embraced in the contract to be finished by the first of next April.

TO THE MERCHANTS.—We take this method of cautioning the public against certain parties who are circulating the report that L. Samuel will not issue a directory. We can assure our readers that on the 1st of January, 1873 Samuel's Illustrated Directory will be ready for delivery. It will be superior in every respect to any publication of the kind ever attempted here, and he charges $2 50 less for advertising than others do for the same amount of space in an inferior publication. Don't be imposed upon by cheap gotten up affairs because their prices are higher but patronize the best—Samuel's Directory of Portland and East Portland.

QUIET.—The election yesterday considering the great and important interests at stake, passed off with scarcely a ripple. Men went up quietly, deposited their ballots and resumed their various avocations. So quiet and orderly was everything conducted, that one would not suppose that the Presidential election was being held in the city if he were not in the immediate vicinity of the polls, except that it was the 5th of the month. There was an entire absence of drunkenness, loud conversation or disorderly conduct, which so frequently disgrace our local elections. There was no quarreling, and so far as we have been able to learn, not a single fight occurred during the day.

FIRST STEAMER THROUGH.—The recent rains have produced a decided effect on the stage of water in the Tualatin river. It has been constantly on the rise for the last week. A few days more of rain will have sufficiently swollen the stream to enable the steamer owned by the Tualatin Canal Company to float through the Canal from the river to Oswego Lake with ease and safety. Arrangements are being made by the Company to avail themselves of the first opportunity. The event will be celebrated by the citizens of Oswego in an appropriate manner.

UNDERGOING REPAIRS.—Necessary repairs are being made to the lighthouse stations at Point Dungeness, Edis Hook, and Tatoosh Island under the superintendence of J T Robert who is now visiting those points.

READY TO LAUNCH.—The hull of the new dredger has been nearly finished, and will be ready to launch in a few days. One of the scows has already been completed and the frame for the keel of the second laid. The boiler and engine to be used on the new dredger have been completed at the Willamette Iron Works and will be ready to place on the new craft in the course of a few weeks. The machinery which is to come from the East has not been shipped from New York yet.

TO THE FORWARD.—The steamer Dixie Thompson took on board 75 tons of flour yesterday afternoon for the bark Forward which is now down the river at Rainier. In addition the barge Mercer Chief was towed by the same steamer having on board 200 Chinamen and their baggage. The Forward after receiving the passengers and flour will be ready to sail for her destination.

NEARLY FINISHED.—Work on the new light house at Cape Foulweather is being prosecuted with all the vigor possible. The keeper's house has been completed several weeks ago by Chas F Brown, under contract, and the lighthouse is expected to be finished by the last of the present month.

MEET AGAIN.—The Board of Delegates of Portland Fire Department will meet again this evening to further consider the charges against certain members of Engine Co, No 1, which investigation has been before the Board some time.

NEARLY THROUGH.—The old dredger is still at work at Swan Island. She has nearly completed the work through to the seventeen feet out on the upper side of the Swan Island Bar.

ARRIVED.—The bark Webfoot arrived yesterday evening from Astoria in tow of one of the tugs. She came from San Francisco with a large assorted cargo.

READY TO SAIL.—The ship Siam having completed her cargo of wheat, is now lying at Astoria ready to cross the bar as soon as the weather will allow.

TO DECIDE.—The motion for a new trial in the case of United States vs Frank Thompkins and others, will be decided to day by Judge Deady.

ARRIVED.—The steamship John L Stephens arrived at port last evening from San Francisco. She brought a large passenger and freight list.

GONE TO SEA.—The bark Loch Dee went to sea last Friday, destined for Liverpool with a cargo of wheat.

SEEN OFF.—A vessel was seen off the bar yesterday. This craft is, no doubt, the Norwood.

Two Millionaires

The two wealthiest Englishmen so far, at least, as personal estate goes, who have ever lived in England, have died within the last decade. They were Mr Morrison and Mr Brassey. The personal property of the first was sworn under $20,000 000, that of the second, under $30,000,000, but it is understood that a great deal of Mr Brassey's estate has not yet been sworn for duty, owing to difficulties in appraising it and that in fact, it will prove to be nearly $100,000,000 when this has been done. Both of these men like the most of those who have made the largest fortunes, began life poor. Mr Morrison entered a dry goods warehouse, where he contrived to secure the affections of his employer s daughter. They were married and he was taken into the business, to which he ultimately succeeded.

One great stroke he made was buying up all the crape in England in anticipation of the death of the Princess Charlotte, of Wales. This lucky hit is supposed to have put a very large sum of money in his pocket.

He invested a large portion of his enormous wealth in real estate, and became one of the greatest landlords in the United Kingdom. His principal country residence was Basildon Park, near Reading, in Berkshire. It is a stately mansion, standing in a very pleasant park, and filled with a magnificent collection of works of art of which he was a very liberal purchaser. The very book-cases, tables and chairs were designed by such men as Sir Charles Eastlake, R E. In the dining room were two columns of rare and beautiful marble, purchased from a church in Italy at a prodigious price. These pillars were extraordinarily heavy, and considerable difficulty was experienced in bringing them to their destination, the roads being, at various points, quite broken into holes by the weight. Besides his collection at Basildon Mr Morrison had a gallery of choice pictures at his house in London.

He was not in the least ostentatious, nor did he ever evince the tendency, so common to nouveaux riches, of toadying people of rank, his principal associates being eminent artists.

Toward the close of his life he became as so often happens in the case of very rich men, oppressed with the idea that he was miserably poor and should die a pauper and a small sum was paid to him every week as a wage, to humor his fancies.

Mr Morrison left several sons. To the eldest he bequeathed his interest in the warehouse estimated at $350,000 a year (which that gentleman sold to a joint stock company) and further very extensive estates. To the second he left some $200 000 a year, and to others incomes varying from $60 000 to $80 000.

All his sons have turned out steady respectable men and one is a well known Liberal member of Parliament.

Mr Brassey's great fortune was the result in the first instance of successful railway contracts, then of the accumulations consequent upon the great sums thus made. Like Mr Morrison he was the least ostentatious of men and like him too, was fortunate in a wife who resembled him in this respect. Indeed, Mr Brassey s expenditure so far as his establishment, etc went, probably did not exceed fifty thousand dollars a year, when his income was two million dollars a year. Like Mr Morrison he was fortunate in his children. He had three—all sons. They bear the highest character and now have divided among them the colossal fortune which their parents only seemed to care for in so far as it would contribute to their children s happiness.

It is remarkable that these two men—England s wealthiest men—should all their life have been indifferent to what most successful men in their country aspire to—a seat in Parliament. Mr Morrison we believe did occupy one for a short time, but Mr Brassey never. Two of his sons are now very useful members of Parliament.

EPICUREANS will find at Stalls Nos 10 and 11 Central Market a very choice lot of game fish and poultry. Quinn who continues to dispense these luxuries at the Union Market Washington street presides over these stalls and that is all that need be said to induce every one to call.

Seasonable Suggestions

The [illegible] and cold night dews which characterize the present season are very trying to the delicate organizations and in low lying, [illegible] localities they [illegible] duce an enormous crop of intermittent fevers of various types and degrees of intensity. At this very [illegible] are probably half a million of people in the United States suffering from periodical fevers by [illegible] and exhalations. What makes the prevalence of this evil the more [illegible] is the fact that it might in all cases be easily prevented. Malaria and damp produce little or no effect upon the system prefortified by a course of Hostetter s Stomach Bitters. Every fall and spring hundreds of [illegible] flitters are [illegible] from [illegible] districts who state that while their neighbors [illegible] [illegible] they have been [illegible] exempted from attack by the regular [illegible] vegetable antidote [illegible] As a [illegible] specific for [illegible] the Bitters may be justly [illegible] infallible. They eradicate the complaints in their most obstinate forms [illegible] preparation [illegible] will [illegible] from [illegible] malarial [illegible] uses, and the pecuniary loss to individuals, families [illegible] that by toning and regulating the system with Hostetter s Bitters before the calamity comes it may always be escaped and let it also be remembered that indigestion general debility biliousness, constipation nervous complaints and indeed almost all the disturbances and derangements of the physical system are controlable by this great restorative.

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.—1860—X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

Happy Go Lucky.

Happy go lucky, cheeks rosy red,
Ten times a day he will stand on his head
Happy go lucky, brimful of fun,
Up in the morning as soon as the sun,
Sliding on bannisters all the way down,
Playing at circus and bumping his crown;
When he has shocked all the house with the fright,
Off he goes screaming with roguish delight

Happy go lucky once climbed up a tree,
Just to look round and see what he could see;
Crack went the bough—such a terrible fall,
Didn't hurt Happy go lucky at all

Maybe the fairies, with some potent charm,
Because he's so cheerful, kept him from harm—
Mother so wishes that he would be still,
Only for once, but the rogue never will.

Happy go lucky runs out in the street
Asks into dinner each beggar he meets
Happy go lucky—now just think of that—
Ties granny's spectacles on the poor cat,
When he knows mother is going to scold,
Off he runs gravely in tears, I am told
And then he will hug her and kiss her with joy.
Any one got such an out an' out boy!"

William H. Seward.

THE CLOSE OF HIS POLITICAL LIFE—SOME INCIDENTS IN THE STATESMAN'S LIFE.

[New York Correspondence Chicago Tribune.]

The news of the death of the Hon. William H. Seward, on Thursday, fell unexpectedly upon the mass of the community. It was known that he had been partly paralyzed for years, and that he was gradually growing weaker in body, though as vigorous as ever in mind, and, at his age, and in his maimed and crippled condition, death was to be looked for at any time. Nevertheless, no intimation of any serious attack of recent date had been received, and the shock to the community was, therefore, the deeper. Abler pens than mine, will, long ere this has reached you, have written lengthy obituaries and eloquent eulogies on the great statesman now lying dead at Auburn; for, in spite of the passions and the prejudices, the hatreds and the jealousies of our day, he was a great statesman, and history will inevitably accord him that place in the temple of fame. I will only say, then, as one who—as you know—had peculiar opportunities for knowing him well, that I am satisfied that death was welcome to him, and had been looked forward to rather as a pleasant relief from cares and disappointments, and physical sufferings, than as a terror and a thing to be avoided. The loss of his wife and daughter deeply afflicted him, and he never fully recovered from those successive shocks. But the incidents connected with the death of President Lincoln, the attempted assassination of himself and son, and the subsequent partizan inquiry into the circumstances on the part of Congress, affected him far more deeply than all the other trials and afflictions of his life. The fact that he, while lying almost at the point of death, from the blows dealt him by the would-be assassin, should be summoned before a Committee of Inquiry, to testify whether he had or had not a part in the preparation of the plot which took from the world his warmest and most trusting friend, and from which both he and his son Frederick escaped almost by a miracle with their lives, though both terribly and permanently injured, stirred up all the bitterness in his heart, and he never forgot nor forgave what he always regarded as the most wanton, cowardly, brutal, and willful insult which was or could be forced upon him. Many a time in Mexico, I have heard him allude the affair in the bitterest terms, and he invariably added: "But to think that my old friends at Auburn, among whom I had spent my life, and who should have known every impulse of my heart, should have looked upon me as half a traitor because I stood at my post and upheld Johnson when he was assailed by political quacks and charlatans merely for partisan purposes, was harder to bear than all the rest. They, at least, should have known that my motives were pure, and given me credit for honesty of purpose, while differing from me in matters of policy; but they did not even do that." Travel became to him almost a necessity of his existence, and he could not be content to remain at home so long as it was possible for him to continue it. When he left San Francisco for China, on his trip around the world, he made an after dinner speech at the house of Judge Hastings, and requested me to call at 7 o'clock next morning to reduce it to writing for publication. The dinner lasted until late into the night, and I hardly expected to find him up at so early an hour next morning; nevertheless, I was on hand punctually, and found him sitting at the table, awaiting my arrival to commence. He then repeated the entire speech, sentence by sentence, and I wrote it down for publication. It appeared verbatim in the San Francisco Call, and, I think, in the Bulletin as well—only detecting a single change, in the construction of one sentence, from the exact language he had used at the banquet. His memory was, indeed, wonderful. When it was finished, he said: "Be sure and have this published correctly, and send me a copy at Shanghai; it is probably the last speech which I shall ever make in America, even should I return alive, which is only among the possibilities." He said this with an inexpressible sadness in his voice, and I felt that he looked upon that little speech, put forth modestly under the guise of a chance after dinner effort, as really a last farewell to his country and countrymen; subsequent events proved to me that he intended it as such. I read it over to him when it was finished. Then he gave me a kind message to my sick and suffering wife, a letter of recommendation for my ward—a young Mexican lady who had returned with his family from Mexico, and was then in my family—kissed me and bade me good-bye. I never saw him again.

On his return from his trip around the world, he projected a tour to the extreme north of Europe—Spitzbergen and the Arctic Ocean—returning via Norway, Sweden, and St. Petersburg; and it was his intention to start in June last; but his infirmities increased so rapidly during the winter that he was reluctantly compelled to abandon it, and notify his friends in San Francisco, who had been invited to accompany him, of the fact. A Mexican friend, who visited him with his wife in June or July, at his cozy little retreat by the side of Owasco Lake, was warmly received and most hospitably entertained, but so painfully was he impressed with the evident fact of the rapidly approaching end of the great statesman, that he came away regretting that he had made the visit; and, at his suggestion, I deferred my own intended visit until it was too late.

Three years ago this month I saw him standing in silence by the lonely mound, surmounted with three rude crosses, which marked the spot where, a few months before, the half crazy, infatuated dreamer, Maximilian, self-styled Emperor of Mexico, fell, pierced by the bullets of his bare-footed Republican executioners; and a few days later witnessed the cordial meeting between the great statesman of the North and that most remarkable man of our time, the Aztec Cromwell, Benito Juarez, at the gates of the City of Mexico. Mrs. Juarez—one of the noblest women and most devoted of wives and mothers—who was present and greeted the ex-Premier on that occasion, died more than a year ago; the citizen President, who had so well deserved the title of Benemerito del Patria and the admiration of mankind, died so suddenly, a few months since, that the thrilling announcement was long discredited by the outside world; and to-morrow his great coadjutor, friend and co-worker in the cause of constitutional liberty will follow him to the silent tomb. It is a glorious autumn morning as I write this. I look out upon the bay of New York and see and, with something of bitterness in my heart, repeat the words of the great American poet, written a few years since, when a man infinitely less in intellect and all that makes true greatness, passed away on the other side of the ocean:

> The stately ships go out
> To the haven under the hill;

> Meantime, without the surly cannon waited,
> The sun rose overhead,
> Nothing in nature's aspect indicated
> That a great man was dead.

Eccentricities of the New King of Sweden

King Oscar II., who had just ascended the throne of Sweden and Norway, has many peculiarities, but as he is a highly gifted man, of a family who have ever looked with favor on liberal and progressive movements, the people of the two Northern kingdoms are confident that the liberties of the country will be safe in his hands. He early manifested great mental aptitude, and would have been the pride and delight of his teachers but for his wayward disposition. His father, Oscar I., was a great disciplinarian, and insisted that his two sons should be treated by their teachers with the same severity as ordinary school boys. He himself would examine their compositions after school hours, and when he found they were not satisfactory, he would administer with his own hands the required correction.

Having received several rather painful castigations in this manner, the young Prince Oscar in his twelfth year, like Frederick the Great in a similar trouble, ran away from home, and succeeded in finding his way to Copenhagen, where the emissaries of his distressed parents found him playing in the street at marbles with some little ragamuffins. No European prince ever presented a more ludicrous aspect than did young Oscar when he was thus found, barefooted, bareheaded and his clothes soiled and torn. But he asserts to the present day that he enjoyed himself gloriously during that brief absence from home. In his seventeenth year he was sent to the university at Upsala, where he took part in all the practical jokes, of which the students at that ancient seat of learning are so fond. After remaining there about six months, he shocked his royal father by coolly informing him that he had fallen desperately in love with the daughter of one of the university professors, and was determined to marry her. To prevent this, he was immediately recalled to Stockholm, where he became very popular in his simplicity and unaffected manners. He delighted to walk the streets after nightfall, plainly dressed, and was invariably present at fires, where he would work with the greatest vigor at the engines.

While traveling with a friend, incognito, in 1852, they were both robbed, and when, next morning, the landlord presented their bills, they had not a cent to pay with, when their irate host locked them both up, and summoned two policemen to take them in charge, but, with some difficulty, they established their identity, and were released. When the court of Stocholm selected a German princess as consort of the wayward Oscar, the latter went secretly to Lubeck, and, in disguise, traveled with her on the steamer that conveyed her from that port to Stockholm, watching his intended bride with the closest attention. What he saw of her satisfied him that she was an excellent young woman, and he has ever since proved an affectionate husband to her.

A STATE RULED BY WOMEN.—Among the Holland possessions there is a remarkable little State which, in its constitution and the original customs of its inhabitants, surpass the boldest dreams of American emancipation ladies. Upon the island of Java, between the cities of Batavia and Samarang, lies the little kingdom of Bantam. Although tributary to Holland, it is an independent State, politically, without importance, yet happy, rich and since time immemorial governed and defended by women. The sovereign is indeed a man, but all the rest of the government belongs to the fair sex. The King is entirely dependent upon his State council, composed of three women. The highest authorities, all State officers, court functionaries, military commanders and soldiers are, without exception, of the female sex. The men are agriculturists and merchants. The body guard of the King is formed of the female elite. Those amazons ride in the masculine style, wearing sharp steel points instead of spurs. They carry a pointed lance, which they swing very gracefully, and also a musket, which is discharged at full gallop. The throne is inherited by the eldest son, and in case the King dies without issue a hundred elected amazons assemble, in order to choose a successor from among their own sons. The chosen one is then proclaimed lawful king. The capital city of this little State lies in one of the most picturesque parts of the island, in a fruitful plain, and is defended by two well kept fortresses.—From the November Galaxy.

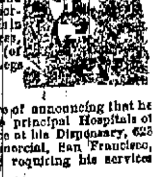
TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his special study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots; uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary one of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian
